The entire family,

I am so very sorry for your loss. May you find tranquility and serenity in a world you may not always understand. May the pain and the conflict you have experienced in the most recent days , give you strength to walk through life facing each new situation with courage and optimism. Always know that there are those whose love understanding will always be there even when you feel most alone. May a kind word a reassuring touch and a warm smile be yours everyday of your life. There is never a good time for a loss as large as you and your family have experienced in the most recent days. Just know that family, friends and time are the best things for healing in such situations.

I'll remember going to Boo Boo's, Singnarellis, and Chateau Rouge having a blast when Letty and Lanette. That's the memories that I will always remember. Love you all
